PRE-SYMPOSIUM

OF THE 26TH SCIENTIFIC MEETING OF THE
INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY OF HYPERTENSION

“Hypertension in the Context of Cardiovascular Risk”

MEETING ROOM “104” COEX (CONVENTION AND EXHIBITION CENTRE)

Chairman: Prof. Alberto Zanchetti

Co-Chairman: Prof. Cheol-Ho Kim

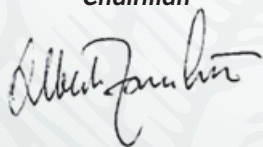

WELCOME LETTER

We are pleased to welcome experts from Asia and from Europe joining this Satellite Symposium of the Menarini Foundation in the context of the 26th Scientific Meeting of the International Society of Hypertension in Seoul, to discuss four areas of hypertension research in which important advances have been made recently or which are still widely debated.

1. New cardiovascular risk factors. The role of blood pressure variability as a risk factor has been recently underlined, but its relative importance versus mean blood pressure values over time is debated. Likewise, uric acid is emerging as a novel risk factor for cardiovascular disease.
2. Detection of asymptomatic organ damage in hypertension. There is mounting evidence that detection of asymptomatic organ damage is an important approach to staging of cardiovascular risk, and refining prognosis in hypertension. During the symposium particular attention will be given to microcirculation changes in the retina and kidney.
3. The elderly hypertensive. Hypertension in the elderly is known to markedly increase cardiovascular risk, particularly for cerebrovascular damage and cognitive decline, but treatment goals are still debated.
4. Blood pressure goal of treatment. This is not only debated in the elderly. Two recent trials, one just completed the other still underway, will be the topic of discussion.

We are sure presentations and their discussions will contribute to the advance of management of hypertension.

PROGRAMME

Chairpersons: C.H. Kim (South Korea), A. Zanchetti (Italy)

New cardiovascular risk factors

SESSION 1

Chairs: R. Cifkova (Czech Republic), B.H. Oh (South Korea)

- 08.30^{am} Role of blood pressure variability: 24-hour variability
G. Parati (Italy)
- 08.55^{am} Role of blood pressure variability: longitudinal variability
Y. Zhang (China)
- 09.20^{am} Discussion
- 09.30^{am} Serum uric acid as an independent risk factor for renal and cardiovascular disease
C. Borghi (Italy)
- 09.55^{am} Serum uric acid and systolic blood pressure in children and adolescents
E. Lurbe (Spain)
- 10.20^{am} Discussion
- 10.30^{am} BREAK

Asymptomatic organ damage and its detection

SESSION 2

Chairs: T.O. Morgan (Australia), L.M. Ruilope (Spain)

- 11.00^{am} Endothelium function and dysfunction: a target for treatment?
L.P. Low (Singapore)
- 11.25^{am} Discussion
- 11.30^{am} Microcirculatory changes: the retina
T.Y. Wong (Singapore)
- 11.55^{am} Microcirculatory changes: peripheral microcirculation
E. Agabiti Rosei (Italy)
- 12.20^{pm} Discussion
- 12.30^{pm} Microcirculatory changes: protein excretion and renal function decline
J. Redon (Spain)
- 12.55^{pm} Discussion

01.00^{pm} LUNCH

The elderly hypertensive: a multifactorial problem

SESSION 3

Chairs: A.J. Manolis (Greece), Z. Wu (China)

- 02.00^{pm} Peripheral versus central blood pressure
J.B. Park (South Korea)
- 02.20^{pm} Arterial stiffness and cognitive decline
S. Laurent (France)
- 02.40^{pm} Discussion
- 02.50^{pm} Hypertension and white matter lesions
A. Coca (Spain)
- 03.15^{pm} Discussion
- 03.20^{pm} Hypertension and microvascular aging
K.I. Kim (South Korea)
- 03.45^{pm} Discussion

What is the blood pressure goal of treatment?

SESSION 4

Chairs: S. Yusuf (Canada), G. Jennings (Australia)

- 04.15^{pm} The SPRINT study in the general context
G. Mancina (Italy)
- 04.40^{pm} The ESH-CHL-SHOT study: background and design
A. Zanchetti (Italy)
- 05.00^{pm} The ESH-CHL-SHOT study: ongoing data
L. Liu (China)
- 05.20^{pm} Discussion
- 05.30^{pm} Adjournment
