These registration-free two-track pre-congress workshops allow health professionals to remain up-to-date with the latest advances in cardiovascular care while networking with top-scientists and physicians from East Africa and across the world.

Top world-renowned specialists will take attendees through basic principles in cardiology and focus on dilemmas that physicians face on a daily basis. Concurrently an advanced echo-course led by the US-based authority in echocardiography will focus on top-of-the-line echo skills: practitioners who are engaged in the practice of cardiology or echocardiography will find this program useful. It provides an update on current topics in cardiology. Those attending the echocardiography session will learn how to evaluate function and hemodynamics.
